Pianist Goodman Triumphs In Symphony Opener

by Rachel Morton, Music Critic

It was truly a gala opening of the 24th season of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Haymo Taeuber at the Sunset Auditorium Tuesday night. Even the venerable old hall took on a festive glow with the handsome new red chairs. Many of the ladies in furs and long length gowns, with their neck-tie escorts added to the glamour.

A highly diversified program had something for everyone's taste. It began with Overture from the opera, "News from the Day" by Paul Hindemith. Beginning with wandering tonal adventures in contemporary style, there came an abrupt halt, followed by snatches and snatches of acrid music, hung on a running bass line. With heavy percussion and dramatic up-building the Overture came to a blazing, dissonant finale.

In a beautiful gown of soft ivory, elaborately embroidered in pastel colored, metallic thread, Janet Goodman appeared as soloist, playing Mozart's Piano Concerto in E Flat Major with orchestra. Her girlish figure belied her mature talent. A friend of Myra Hess and a pupil of Rosina Laevenne, Miss Goodman showed refinement of taste and a sure technique. There were fluid runs and finger dexterity in the first movement.

The warm sonorous tone dante opening was also revealed in the soloist's playing. The interplay between pianist and orchestra was a lovely co-mingling — chaste and moving.

There was sparkling delicacy in the allegro, deftly and gayly articulated by Miss Goodman. A slow summing-up in the cantabile, almost reverie-like, changed to a playful mood in the fast finish. Here Miss Goodman displayed technical brilliance.

The really stirring music came after Intermission, which opened with Rosenkavlier Suite by Richard Strauss. With a largely augmented orchestra Mr. Taeuber came into his own, in music well suited to his unique talent.

The entrance of Baron Ochs got off to a boisterous start with a blatant blast from the bass tuba. Then came the moving music of the "soliloque," interwoven with the tinkling running steps of the little nubian with the retrieved handkerchief. Mr. Taeuber achieved every shading and subtle nuance in the Presentation of the Rose, so tenderly evoked in the music. And here also was the beautiful tonal quality in the solo bits played by the concert master. There was a humor of the clumsy Barn in the waltz music glorious music of the last act trio was as moving as ever in the opera itself.

The Suite was given a magnificent performance, well-meriting the loud bravos and acclaim from the audience.

What a contrast from the highly dramatic music of the Rosenkavlier to the fairy world of Debussy's "L'Après Midi D'Une Faun which followed! Impressions, dreams, intangibles — shimmering music which glowed with many rainbow colors. Who can tell what beautiful dreams are made of. The exquisite music was too ethereal for loud demonstration at the close, but hearty recalls were given conductor and orchestra.

CBA Announces New Officers

The Carmel Business Association has announced the results of member-voting for the four new executive board members.

They will be installed at the winter dinner meeting to be held at the Beach Club on Nov. 20.

James Peter Cost, Carmel seascape gallery owner and artist, was elected president, Henri Corbat of the Swiss Jewelers, vice president, and Don Nelson, United California Bank, treasurer.

The new members are Warren Knapp of Knapp Mill and Cabinet; Merv Sutton of Nielsen's Groceries; J. Ritchie Dunn of Corner Cupboard, and David Hunter of Viking Sails.

The final number on the program was "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Paul Dukas, a remarkable depiction in music of the woes and wails of an apprentice who tried to outdo his master. He knew a magic word to start water from a broom handle, but forgot the word to shut it off. How clever was the music of the ax strokes as he cut the broom in half and how torrential was the music as two streams of water flowed! With the return of the Sorcerer, the music was stilled and so was the flood.

What a fine conductor we have; what a splendid orchestra and what an impassioned reading.

VERSATILITY BUNCH — Four members of the Community Theater of the Monterey Peninsula, Inc., (the full name, at the insistence of its president, Richard Bragg) sang songs from the three musicals that were involved in the 1968-69 season — "Roar of the Greasepaint, Smell of the Crowd," "Sweet Charity" and "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." They billed themselves merely as "The Group." From left, Dale Diggs, who has potentially the finest voice heard on the Peninsula in years; Milton Hayes, who was awarded a special plaque for Outstanding Display of Versatility; Suz Newell, and James Sweeney.

TIE FOR FIRST — Layne Littlefield, left, and Jean McBride, hold as yet unnamed statuettes for performances in "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." Judges were unable to decide between the two, so awarded two prizes. Mike Keller, who portrayed Walter Mitty was chosen as best actor in a comedy or musical.

STANDING OVATION — Sally Reichard, beloved Girl Friday of the Community Theater, received a standing ovation when she stepped to the dias to receive the elaborate plaque symbolic of the Frohman Award from its donor, Sid Frohman, right. Miss Reichard received the award for her outstanding contributions to the theater group, and was the only nominee for the honor.

Elmer N. Rau, district governor of Rotary International, District 522, will be speaker of the day when he makes his visitation to the Carmel Rotary Club on their regular noon meeting of Wednesday, Oct. 22, which will be held at the Sans Souci Restaurant

TOP WINNERS — Michael Keller, left, Gertrude Chapell and Roy Baxter garnered top honors for their contributions to the Community Theater (Golden Bough Players, Circle Theater Group — take your choice). Keller holds the President's Award for the best production of the season, "The Lion In Winter," which he directed. Gertrude Chapell and Baxter starred in the production. Miss Chapell also won an award for the best dramatic performance of the season, as Eleanor in "Lion In Winter." Baxter, who played King Henry in the same production, also won for his performance in a drama. MacDougall King photos

Mike Keller New Managing Director of Theatre Group

At its meeting Monday evening the board of governors of the Community Theater of the Monterey Peninsula, Inc., unanimously voted to appoint Michael Keller managing director of the group.

He will select plays for production, manage the business affairs of the theatrical group, and continue to direct productions and participate as an actor.

Rubbings of Mayan Sculpture executed by Mrs. Lawrence W. Robertson of Pebble Beach will be on exhibit at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, Oct. 4th through Nov. 2nd.

On loan from Tulane University, where Mrs. Robertson did much of her work, the rubbings exemplify the intense scientific effort being conducted to gain knowledge of ancient Latin America.

Mrs. Robertson, who has obtained her Masters Degree in Anthropology, is the Anthropology instructor at Stevenson.

Aid to missionary schools in Africa will be the year's major project undertaken by the Interact Club — a campus service organization.

The Interact Club is designed to promote an understanding of social problems both on a local and an international level.

On the local level, Interact shall continue tutoring the underprivileged children of the Monterey Bay area; a program inaugurated and successfully undertaken last year.

The Interact Club looks forward to a successful year through the able leadership of Hok Yin Leung, Frank Moffett, Jeff Smith, Pat Anderson and the advice of Mr. Lawrence W. Robertson.

More excerpts from Lynn Fryback's letters from Japan:

The Japanese bath is almost exactly like they described it. I'm getting used to the hot water. I finally learned how to put the lid on the right way — the ridges go up instead of down. I was wondering why it didn't fit just right and Kayoko had a good laugh.

We made doughnuts the other day and naturally I licked the pan. Everything was fine until Kayoko told Okachama at dinner. She jumped up and made me take 4 pills and really scolded me. I guess that means no more pan licking this year. Gosh, they eat raw fish and boiled octopus and snails without thinking and then get so upset over a little doughnut dough!

This morning at school we went to the gym to listen to three Buddhist priests. We had to sit "zazen" for two hours. Try sitting with your legs under you like that for two hours. I really couldn't feel my feet when it was over.

School is getting to be more fun all the time. The girls have learned my limited vocabulary and they ask me things I can answer. In fact, one day I was asked what my favorite sport was about ten times and every time I changed my answer just for variety.

Japanese sewing patterns are different from American ones. They don't allow any room for the seam and all sizes are in one pattern — you just sew on a different line. In Home Ec. I cut my first piece out wrong and gave everyone a good laugh. Neither the teacher nor the students spoke English — all instructions were given in Japanese.

There is lots of bowing at school. In the morning, to get everyone's attention, chimes are played over the loud speaker. Everyone has to stop and stand with a bowed head. Then the principal comes on the speaker and has everyone bow and say good morning. Then everyone turns and watches the flag being raised outside. When it gets to the top of the pole everyone has to bow again. One poor girl, standing close to the window, gave her head a good crack against it while in the process of bowing. This sent the whole class into gales of laughter (even the teacher). I'm glad I wasn't that poor girl — I do enough stupid things as it is.

A few weeks ago a girl came up to me in a department store and asked if I was an AFS student. She went to Wisconsin year before last as an exchange student. She invited me to a slumber party. My parents wouldn't let me go to the slumber party but did let me go to the beach with her and some friends for a picnic. There were nine of us who went to Enoshima Island. We walked all over the mountain. Saw a shrine carved in a cave.

We have no oven so I can't make any cookies. We made a pound cake though. It was really a family affair. Okachama brought out all the ingredients and Otchama creamed the butter and sugar. Tsutomu cracked the eggs into the batter, Kayoko measured the flour by weighing it. We all took turns mixing. Okachama cooked the cake by setting it on a rack in a pan and putting a lid on it. Almost an oven-like pressure cooker without any pressure.

One of the things I miss the most is a newspaper. you please just keep me informed on current affairs? I'm going to need to know."

of more than 15 novels for young people will be among the 35 authors participating.

A third generation Californian, Mr. Bonham now lives in LaJolla with his family.

Aside from Army Service, writing has been his sole occupation for 35 years.

Although he has written many westerns and mysteries for adults, scripts for television programs and about five hundred short stories and novelettes for magazines, he has, since 1960, devoted himself exclusively to writing books for young people.

Bonham writes with gripping perception of the real world his young readers face. He has worked closely with counselors, as well as independently, in the ghetto areas of Southern California and has come to have an intimate knowledge of problems and frustrations of the minority and disadvantaged youngsters.

From the knowledge gained from his experiences by working with the minority, the disadvantaged and the delinquent youth, Mr. Bonham feels that he has something in his books to offer to these youths that they can recognize as relevant to his world, his special problems and himself.

Some of the titles of his books are: Durango Street, Mystery of the Fat Cat, the Nitty Gritty, Mystery of the Red Tide, The Vagabundos.

Everyone is welcome to the Festival. Admission is free. Come any time — Saturday, Oct. 18 — 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. — Monterey Fairgrounds.

WELCOME WAGON — Bridge luncheon was visited by Dr. Jim G. Duckett, noted plastic surgeon, whose mother, Mable Duckett, was house guest of hostess Jewel White. He told the ladies that a beautiful tan is harmful to skin and encourages wrinkles.

June Wedding Mark Raggetts

Home From Eastern Trip

A June wedding in Carmel is being planned by Michele Lynn Marinkovich and Richard C. Smith.

Their engagement was announced by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marinkovich of Carmel.

Richard is the son of Mrs. George Smith of the Sur Coast and the late Mr. Smith.

Michele Lynn and Richard are both Carmel High School graduates and are currently attending Monterey Peninsula College.

The future bridegroom is the brother of Mrs. Thomas Paine of San Diego, Mrs. William Dunn of West Virginia, Mrs. Rodney Folden of San Jose, Joan, Thomas and John Smith.

The Mark Raggetts of Pebble Beach have returned from an Eastern trip where they visited former superintendent of the Naval Postgraduate School, Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell (USN Ret.) and Mrs. O'Donnell. Adm. O'Donnell is now president of the New York Maritime College at Fort Schuyler.

The Raggetts spent a week at Princeton where they visited their son Jon and his wife Tory. Together they visited the New York Yacht Club and toured the Amish countryside of Lancaster, Pa.

Jon is currently teaching at Princeton and completing his doctoral work in structural engineering.

How to beat the rising cost of winter.

1. Replace filters. Forced air furnace filters trap dust and keep your air clean, but they should be changed every six months to allow maximum heat flow.

2. Close damper when your fireplace is not in use and stop heat escaping up your chimney. Close drapes and stop up to 16% of heat loss.

3. Weatherstrip and insulate. Keep cold air outside with insulation and by plugging heat leaks around doors and windows with weatherstripping.

4. Check heating system now. Have your furnace man make sure your heating system is in safe working order before the first cold snap.

5. Leave thermostat set. Agree on a healthy thermostat setting and leave it there. If chilly, put on a sweater.

Winter PG&E bills are higher than summer bills because you eat more hot meals, watch more TV, need more heating, more lighting and use more appliances. However, typical PG&E gas and electric rates have gone down 13.9% since 1935, while the cost of living has gone up 183%. Even with the gas rate increase we've had to request, a typical gas and electric customer would get more for his money than he would have 34 years ago.

Serving You in Salinas, Seaside, Gilroy, Monterey, Santa Cruz, Aptos, King City, Felton, Carmel Valley, Marina and Pacific Grove

The glamour-packed global Explorarama films now start again at Carmel's Sunset Auditorium. The first showing will give us a close view of Ireland on Oct. 22 at 8:15.

Many Carmel travelers toured Ireland's green lush pastures this past summer. Riding to hounds, staying at castles, elegant hotels or simple inns, food was hearty, aristocratic or country. Fresh fish is dependable, potatoes standard and corned beef traditional.

In Ireland during the 17th century, before the potato was produced, the main nourishment was called stirabout. This is a wheat meal porridge, stirred with a wooden spoon until smooth. Freshly churned sweet butter, ewe's milk and honey topped this substantial meal-in-itself.

We're choosing an Irish country supper for next week's pre or after cinema premiere.

In medieval Ireland meals started, as they still do, with brotchan (broth). Made from garden yields, ground oats, leeks and nettle tops, the latter were considered health giving and blood purifying. Lacking the nettles (which sting), we think vegetable soup with quick cooking oatmeal added and stirred into a porridge-like mixture is a fair substitute. Then follows

Cold Salmon Watercress

Two lbs. fresh salmon in one piece; 2 cups water; 1 sliced onion; 1 bayleaf; juice of 1 lemon; salt and freshly ground pepper.

Combine everything except fish. Bring to a boil, then simmer 15 minutes. Add salmon and simmer, covered, until it is fork-tender but firm. Chill in own liquid. When ready to serve, remove skin and bones without breaking flesh.

Make a sauce by removing leaves from 2 watercress, put these into cold water, bring to boil, simmer for 10 minutes. Drain and put through sieve or into blender.

Combine this with 1 cup

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

sour cream, capers, chopped dill pickles, seasoned salt, ground pepper. Serve this sauce separately and decorate the salmon with cucumber rounds, radish roses and more watercress. But it isn't necessary for your dish to look as if one were eating ones way across the lawn! Amounts given serve fourish.

Instead of the rather heavy corned beef and cabbage so favored here and on the Emerald Island, prepare ahead this

Spiced Beef

In a jar mix together 1½ cups coarse salt, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup ground black pepper, 3 T. ground allspice, 1 T. saltpeter and 1½ t. ground mace.

Onto a tender flank steak rub this mixture all over. Put it in a shallow baking dish and keep refrigerated for 3 days, turning once a day, so marinade is absorbed.

Roll the meat lengthwise and tie with soft cord. Put into shallow baking pan and barely cover with warm water. Simmer the beef 3 hours or until fork tender. Remove it from liquid (replenished as needed) and press meat between two boards with a weight on top. Slice the beef and serve either hot or cold, garnished with watercress. Serve with

Irish Mashed Potatoes (Champ)

Fifteen large spring onions, sliced lengthwise, cut into 2 inch lengths; 1½ cups milk; 1 t. salt; plenty of butter; 1½ lbs. potatoes, peeled and sliced, water to cover; more milk if needed.

Soak onions in milk with half of salt. Put potatoes in pan, cover with remaining salt and water. Boil until tender for mashing. Put spring onions on to boil with the milk. Add butter and simmer until tender.

Mash the dry potatoes, add butter and gradually add the undrained onions stirring them briskly into the potatoes. Keep stirring so potatoes become fluffy and onions entirely absorbed.

In Ireland they use a wooden masher, or pestle, and call this "beetling." Be sure to keep pan hot containing mashed potatoes. Make depression in center of mound, filling with a large lump of fresh country butter...not oleo! Serve very hot by keeping in chafing dish.

Should time and appetite prevent dessert before rushing to the Sunset, simply save this fitting finale until later when over an Irish Mist you can all discuss the attractions of Ireland.

Also, instead of the too filling brotchan given, which is a bit on the farmerish side, you had best start this sturdy supper with a cup of beef broth in which minced greens: tender spinach leaves, watercress, parsley and chives have simmered until soft — but be sure they stay emerald green — float thin lemon slices on top.

Fruited gingerbread is something special to have on hand with holidays looming ahead. It also happens to be an Irish favorite.

Fruited Gingerbread

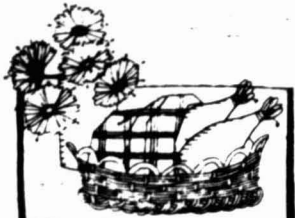

Half cup shortening; ¼ cup sugar; ½ cup dark syrup; 3 cups flour; ½ t. each powdered cinnamon, allspice, mace, salt; 1½ t. baking powder; 2 eggs, beaten; 1/3 cup, each, raisins and chopped mixed candied fruit peel; ¼ cup chopped blanched almonds.

Stir together vigorously first three items until well blended. Sift flour before measuring. Before adding to syrup mixture, sift flour again and add all dry ingredients.

Sift into mixture and beat in the eggs, add fruits and almonds. Bake in 325 F. oven until broom straw comes out clean — about 50 minutes.

We guarantee these irresistible Irish dishes will become household stand-bys, adding that bit of Anglo-Irish charm into your everyday Carmel country-house-style cooking.

Movie Review

War and Peace — Tolstoi's epic novel of the Napoleonic invasion of Russia comes to vivid life in this spectacular Soviet film. Plays one week each of its two parts at Cinema 70, and cannot be held over.

Midnight Cowboy — Jon Voight is a Texas drifter who winds up in New York, and Dustin Hoffman is a corrupt con man who serves as his guide. This is a highly recommended, extremely thoughtful comedy. At the Steinbeck on Cannery Row.

I Am Curious, (Yellow) — Here it is, the Swedish film that has raised such an uproar. Satire mixes with interesting explorations of Swedish culture with notoriously explicit sex scenes. Not worth the fuss that has been raised over its legitimacy. At the Hill.

The April Fools — Entertaining exercise in comedy and suburban frustrations with Jack Lemmon and Catherine Deneuve. This a great brand of controlled hysteria. At the Village.

Goodbye, Columbus — Tightly directed story about young Jewish-American love affair. A funny, wise and intelligent production, beautifully photographed. Richard Benjamin and Ali MacGraw star. At the Grove.

Rachel, Rachel — Paul Newman directed his wife, Joanne Woodward in this moving story of a lonely spinster who is taken advantage of by a man. The experience shatters her little world, and she moves on. At the Golden Bough.

The Rain People — The story of a friendship between two misfits, a confused wife and a simple-minded hitchhiker. Francis Coppola wrote and directed, and a sensitive performance by Shirley Knight. At the Golden Bough.

The Odd Couple — Jack Lemmon is the neat, compulsively so, Felix, and Walter Matthau as the slovenly sportswriter. They decide to room together and the comedy arises from the divergent personalities. At the Grove.

Young Billy Young — Robert Mitchum cleans up a wild town and Angie Dickinson feels the push of his broom. Great cast brings color to a routine story and makes the most of the humor that runs through it. At the Automovie.

Chastity — Cher, half of the Sonny and Cher singing team, is a drifter, self-named Chastity, bumming her way along the highways of life. Written and produced by her husband and singing partner, Sonny Bono. At the Regency.

West Side Story — The classic film musical. Original music by Leonard Bernstein, produced by Robert Wise, Award by Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science. Natalie Wood, Russ Tamblyn. At the Valley.

Yours, Mine and Ours — Navy officer Henry Fonda, father of 10 motherless children; meets, loves and marries widowed Lucille Ball, mother of eight, and the coalition of the two outsize families has riotous results. At the Village.

The Gay Deceivers — Two guys attempt to beat the draft by posing as homosexuals, but the recruiting officer smells a rat and keeps a close watch. Brooke Bundy and Kevin Coughlin are the draft dodgers, Jack Starrett the recruiter. At the Regency. Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid — Paul Newman and Robert Redford as western outlaws whose day has passed in an ingeniously photographed comedy of anticlimaxes and folk-tale touch. Clever score highlights this picture. At the Automovie.

Stage Review

"The Owl and the Pussycat" — At the Circle. F. Sherman believes sex should be strictly intellectual. Doris is convinced it's completely physical. They try, unsuccessfully, to find a middle road, which leaves them shouting and screaming at each other, except in bed, when all is hunky-dory. Swiftly paced comedy with only two actors and assorted sound effects and stage props. Great play for a small theater-in-the-round like the Circle. Roy Baxter's superb direction is responsible for much of the funny stuff. Call 624-2669 for reservations. Plays weekends through October. Curtain at 8:30 except Sunday, 7:30.

"Don't Drink The Water" — Political hi-jinks in an American Embassy somewhere behind the Iron Curtain. The Hollanders, just plain folk from New Jersey, are mistaken for spies and take refuge in the Embassy. Plot revolves around the hilarious efforts in behalf of their escape back to the States. Sam and Edie Karas are outstanding as the Hollanders, and they make this Woody Allen comedy a delight to behold. The play moves primarily through dialogue, and great dialogue at that. The Karas' play each line for all it's worth, milking every nuance of comedy from their parts. For reservations call 624-1661. Curtain at 8:30 except Sunday, one hour earlier.

AHHH, ROYALTY — Mr. DePinna (Carmelite J.C. Hale) welcomes the Grand Duchess Olga (Shirley-Anne Kinnier) presented by Mr. Kolenkhov (Matt Kelleher) in the Naval Postgraduate School Little Theater production of "You Can't Take It With You." This Pulitzer Prize winning comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman will play its final weekend Oct. 17 and 18 at King Hall on the NPS grounds. Curtain at 8:30 p.m. For reservations call 375-6500.

'Can't Take It With You' Is Smash Hit At Navy School

To someone who grew up during the depression of the 30s, "You Can't Take It With You," the Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy that opened Friday at the Naval Postgraduate School, brings back a flood of pleasant nostalgia.

The sharp suits with the wide lapels, bell-bottom trousers (there's nothing new under the sun), the background music, the long skirts and marcelled hair-does on the women all lead to a huge lump in the throat of a man who saw it all.

The story is, of course, dated. Some of the expressions, some of the actions, some of the dialogue might sound stilted or mystifying, or awkward, or even corny, but in its heyday, it was spiffy stuff.

"You Can't Take It With You" won a Pulitzer prize for its authors, and several Academy Awards when it was made into a movie with Lionel Barrymore playing the lead from a wheelchair.

Donald Layton plays Martin Vanderhof, the patriarch of the whackiest family to ever assemble under one roof. Layton underplays the part with expert finesse, and Grandfather Vanderhof is a live, lovable character in his hands.

The cast of 19 turns in a series of performances ranging from good to excellent. Maurine Trujillo as a fading, alcoholic actress is outstanding, as is the veteran J.C. Hale as Mr. DePinna.

All in all, the entire cast brings to the stage a bounding enthusiasm that maintains a high level of hilarity throughout the play, and there is not room to pat each one on the back individually, although each member of the cast deserves a pat.

The production, which is directed by the veteran Dick Vreeland, goes on in King Hall, and is playing two performances next weekend, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 17 and 18.

Curtain is at 8:30, and tickets are available at the door.

Schwabacher 'Loves Of Isadora' Comes Reset For Oct. 19

Noted tenor James Schwabacher, well known on the Monterey Peninsula for his many appearances with the Carmel Bach Festival, will be presented in a lecture-recital, "The Golden Age of Italian Opera," Sunday, Oct. 19, 8:30 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall.

Originally scheduled by MPC community services for October 3, Schwabacher's performance was postponed until the later date due to illness. Tickets pre-purchased for the earlier date will be honored Oct. 19. There are also some available at the college community services office at $1 for general admission and 75cents for MPC student body card holders.

Schwabacher, who has sung many operatic roles, appeared as guest soloist with symphonies, and produced both radio broadcasts and educational telecasts, has been called "the West's most versatile man of music."

In a film that won high critical acclaim including an Oscar nomination for her portrayal of the title role, Vanessa Redgrave depicts dancer Isadora Duncan in Universal's biographical drama in Technicolor, "The Loves of Isadora."

James Fox, Ivan Tchenko and Jason Robards each serve in one of the three romantic interludes in Miss Duncan's life, which are dramatically depicted.

As adapted for the screen by Melvin Bragg who, with Clive Exton, wrote the screenplay, it is the story of the eternal female, beautiful, charming, elusive and enigmatic. Isadora is the romantic rebel who dares to defy society and its conventions, and almost gets away with it because she is a talented artist. There is very little difference between her and today's talented and rebellious youth.

Diabetes ranks eighth among the leading causes of death and is a contributory cause in many deaths attributed to other diseases.

Miss Redgrave prepared for the role for almost a year, reading everything she could on Miss Duncan, interviewing people who had worked with her, and studying every photograph and newsreel still available on the great dancer. The screenplay is based on two of the books she turned up in her research; "My Life" by Isadora Duncan, and "Isadora Duncan, An Intimate Portrait" by Sewell Stokes. During the entire seven months of production, Litz Pisk, who did the choreography, worked with Miss Redgrave, coaching her in body movements as well as the dances. She was an apt pupil, having studied ballet before making the decision to follow in the histrionic footsteps of her parents, Sir Michael Redgrave and Rachel Kempson.

The French Riviera of the 1920's was photographed at a Yugoslavian resort on the Adriatic, while the National Theatre in Rijeka doubled as the Berlin Opera House where Miss Duncan had the first of her romantic interludes with stage set designer Gordon Craig. That role is portrayed in the film by Fox. An exciting sequence in which Isadora dances with Russian soldiers in an army theatre was filmed in Zagreb, while a medieval castle in Ptuj was used to depict Isadora's Russian school of the dance for children. It is here that she meets her third romantic interest, Tchenko, in the role of a poet. In all, the picture used 72 locations.

This picture has been rated "M—Suggested for mature audiences (parental discretion advised)."

"The performance that should have won the Oscar for Vanessa Redgrave for Best Actress of the Year!"

She is magnificent. It is Miss Redgrave's funny, complex, grandly romantic evocation of the late Isadora Duncan, this century's most innocent, most successful American revolutionary. The movie does capture the naive effulgence of Isadora as reflected in her own prose. This is the marvelous quality that Isadora Duncan and Vanessa Redgrave share—AND THAT MAKES THIS MOVIE SOMETHING QUITE SPECIAL."

—Vincent Canby, N.Y. Times

"Vanessa Redgrave Touches Greatness!"

—Look Magazine

"Mistily beautiful, alternately funny and touching!"

Swings between opulent high camp and heart breaking reality. The scenes simply stick in your mind. Vanessa Redgrave is a consummate, unafraid actress. Few could pull off what she has accomplished here. You'll love every wild minute of it... with superlative moments of romance, revolution and ruin!"

—Liz Smith, Cosmopolitan Magazine

"This glorious performance has to be seen on any grand tour of great movie performances! Miss Redgrave remakes herself in the spirit of Isadora. And what a spirit! She was America's first hippie and her hippedom was hard won!"

—Newsweek Magazine

"A Masterwork! Fascinating!"

Vanessa Redgrave's magnificence and total mastery are reminiscent of Garbo!"

CARMEL VALLEY VILLAGE NEWS

Another inspired Roger Fremier camera painting of an old Carmel Valley Oak. So Japanese in character is this tree, that one might suppose it part of an Oriental screen, with a continuation of landscape deftly painted on hand gold leafed wood. Goings On Dean Diaz Jr. of Plaza Linda was dashing about with the so very necessary sign layout and rendering for the Plaza de Flores area on Del Fino and Pilot Roads, which would list the 16 business people located on the two streets. A neat and tidy sign it would be, meeting all requirements, inasmuch as it would be on rough redwood — nice and rustic — and the printing would be done in white. It is to be hoped that the sign will meet with all the approvals necessary to make it a reality.

Los Laureles Lodge had a wedding under the spreading oak that graces the garded end of their dining room. The newly wed Laurences stayed on a few days to enjoy the sun drenched Village and environs. Lots of honeymooners make the Lodge their first home and one can hardly blame them.

The In and Outdoor Shop

has a really yummy window right at the moment. All to do with cocktail time, snack time, bon vivant time...like a marvelous copper chafing dish for tricky fondues, or mushrooms in cream, or chicken a la king...and wooden serving pieces, and trays, and snack bowls, and lovely glassware...makes my mouth water thinking of all the good things to go in them. The other side of the coin, though, is not partaking of all the goodies like Irene Baldwin is not. She has been put on a 425 calorie diet after losing only one ounce after three weeks on a 600 calorie regime. Poor Irene — but she is taking it in stride, as it were, with her usual good humor. She is still at Community Hospital — so don't forget to drop her a note.

Fargo Restaurant. The Leo Diners were wedding anniversary with Lucille Hobson, and Georgia and Florence Galloway, with Georgia birthdaying, thus making it that much more gala. The Art Center is using the walls of the courtyard patio for an outdoor gallery, and it is most colorful and a delight for the patrons of the Plaza Linda Restaurant too. The Carmel Valley Gallery, under the White Oaks, has some of the very rare Armin Hansen water colors and oils — in the window a great elephant — and more of Old Monterey, and nostalgic scenes from nearby Los Laureles, Rippling River, and Valley Lodge were all cram-jammed over the Racing weekend, which is exciting, and introduced lots of new people to the Valley. May Youngberg has lots of ewinresting acreage, I note — which is good news to many folks who have been looking for larger parcels.

Who's To Know

Harry was a very creative, imaginative little boy. His mother often took him into town shopping with her where they spent many hours with Harry listening to all the department store goings on, such as the sales girls calling the Floor Man, Mr. Shockey... or the buyer, Mr. Ginsberg... or singing out, "Ribbons... Ribbons..." which meant there was a check to be OK'd in the Ribbon Department. The little cages flew about overhead on pulleys with sales slips and money wafting up to the cashiers who sat in cubicles on a mezzanine level... then whizzing down lickety-split to the desk where the patron waited her package and change. Maybe other little boys yelled "Clang Clang... I'm a street car" — then went around their friends seated on the stairs with outstretched pieces of paper to be punched, and sometimes exchanged for transfers. Not Harry. When he was left alone, he would play department store pulling the pull cord to send the cash cages up to the cashiers, and singing out Mr. Shockey... oh Mr. Shockey... or Mr. Ginsberg... or just Ribbons Ribbons... at the top of his voice. His father overheard him, and could not make heads or tails out of it... and when he asked what kind of a game Shockey... Ginsberg and Ribbons was... was told very disdainfully that that was the "department store game!!"

So at a very tender age, we find a very individual individual.

Other boys asked for bicycles at Christmas... not Harry. He wanted a theatre. He wanted a theatre he could change scenes in, and put lights in, and play all the parts in. He came to have a very interesting collection of miniature theatres, from all over the world... and today has several very beautiful ones, as collectors pieces, and mindful of the play ones of his young years.

It can be no surprise that this Hamilton offspring, became known from coast to coast in the Theatre, after gruelling years mastering the art of Ballet.

As Vonn Hamilton he was Premier Dancer of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. He formed his own dance troupe and was sponsored by Sol Hurok, of world fame, and danced his way the width and breadth of the country. When he left New York, he landed in Hollywood, where he became Vera Zorina's dance partner, and thus to many parts in the rash of dance musicals on every screen in thagera.

Making good money, he found investing it in houses that needed a little ingenuity to perk up and be something became an ideal hobby or avocation, and he would buy, fix, luxuriate in a good job well done until he sold it, then do it all over again. This type thing brought him finally to Carmel where he enjoyed rehabilitating many of the cottages into charming little havens for which the locale had grown famous.

And from Carmel it was a short step to the sunny Carmel Valley where he at last settled for more than the usual number of years, in one wild rustic rural setting only the Robles Del Rio could offer. Here he found to his amazement, he could sculpt. So sculpt he did. His papier mache figures were featured in good shops and he had collections in galleries. He is now shipping them countrywide. The Keeping Room, in Carmel Valley Village on the Plaza de Flores keeps as many as he can spare with the group changing all the time. New this season is his collage decor, which brings sparkle and color to the erstwhile plaster white or antiqued finish. Take time out and come up to the Keeping Room for a visit to see Vonn's imaginative work... and if you are lucky... he might just pop in while you are there... and that is a treat... for he is a charming person, and fun to know.

SANDY MESSAGE — The peace symbol and a pertinent message appeared on the Carmel beach recently. Done in charcoal on sand, the message expressed a desired sentiment, but failed to explain the influence of the death of Ho Chi Minh on the war in Vietnam.

B of A Report

With "do it yourself" increasingly the name of the auto maintenance game, the automotive accessory business offers "unlimited retail potential," according to a new Bank of America study.

"High labor costs and the shortage of skilled mechanics" have forced many car owners to do their own car maintenance work, the bank's periodical The Small Business Reporter notes.

"In addition to preventive maintenance materials, car owners are buying many bolt-on accessory products to give their cars an air of individuality."

The report observes that many auto accessory businesses have been started on as little as $2,000, while others have required over $50,000 to get off the ground.

Copies of the report may be obtained through any Bank of America branch.

Cable to Sur is Reality

Big Sur residents are receiving a dependable television signal with the addition of Channel 13 to the Monterey County Office of Education translator system.

The translator, part of the world's largest educational translator network, rebroadcasts KQED, Channel 9, to South Coast residents and the children of Captain Cooper School.

According to Instructional Media Director Tom O'Connor, who has supervised installation of 31 translators, the response of Big Sur residents to television's dependable availability — some area residents have had "spotty" reception in the past — has been "highly enthusiastic."

Channel 13 became a reality when the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard offered use of an obsolete radar tower at Point Sur for a translator antenna.

Sierra Club Acts to Halt Channel Island Drillings

The Sierra Club appealed today to the Santa Barbara Superior Court for an order to stop exploratory drilling by Union Oil Company, at Santa Cruz Island, a principal unit of the proposed Channel Islands
National Park.

The writ of mandamus

submitted by Santa Barbara Attorney John M. Sink
further requested the court to require the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors to schedule
public hearing on the Union Oil Company drilling permit. The well blow-out at the company's ill-fated Platform A in the Santa Barbara channel has been responsible for the continuing oil disaster contaminating county beaches.

Should Union Oil Company gain a foothold on Santa Cruz Island, the park prospects for the nation's most important marine reserve would be dangerously threatened by sky-rocketing acquisition costs and the ever present danger of massive oil pollution," a club
spokesman declared.

The suit challenges the "illegal refusal" of the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors to hold hearing on the Union Oil permit request. The case if the first action on oil matters against the county supervisors who have been consistent defenders of the beleaguered channel communities in their fight against oil interests, the club said.

Scout Night Big Success

October 1 was one of scouting's biggest nights on the Peninsula.

More than 500 boys
attended meetings at 31 schools to learn more about Cub and Boy Scouts and join a unit.

As a result there will be new Cub Scout packs and Boy Scout troops in the area.

Of the 521 boys attending, 320 were placed in existing units and 201 are yet to be placed.

The night would not have been possible without all the cooperation. Local newspapers, radio, television and schools provided publicity for two weeks prior to Scout Night.

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Do we ever have a wonderful book for you, all of you over 40 years of age and willing to admit it!

And all of you who watch your neighbors start off in the chilly early daylight for their jogging jaunts, and you turn back for another cup of good coffee and a look at the morning paper, you smart ones!

The book is called How To Be Lazy, Healthy, and Fit and it was written by Dr. Peter Steincrohn. The author is a practicing physician and cardiologist and this book is his living warning against over-exercise, or actually any exercise at all unless you really enjoy it, and even then — look out.

He believes that more people die from overexercise than underexercise and that in your middle years you should avoid being muscled like a cave man.

He believes that tension and overweight are the main causes of heart trouble, and probably the former, meaning tension, is the worst offender. Read the book and then join us in a relaxing hour in a sunny corner of the patio.

Happy resting, friends! Speaking of books by doctors, we have a new one called The Parent's Handbook On Adolescence by Dr. John Schimmel. The book is what it says it is, a guidebook for parents of teenage children, and if there is ever a time when parents really needed a guidebook, it is when their children are teenagers!

If you saw a book entitled The Kingdom and the Power, The Story of the Men Who Influence the Institution That Influences the World, just which men and what institution would you think the title was referring to?

What else but the New York Times and the men who write it and publish it, that's who, and what.

This book by Gay Talese is the inside story of the Times and the fantastic stories behind the publishing of this titanic newspaper.

There is a charming Little-Women atmosphere in the new biography of Edna St. Vincent Millay. It was written by Jean Gould and is entitled The Poet And Her Book.

Miss Millay was a person of immense talent, dedicated to her writing and one of the greatest literary personages this country has ever produced. The sensitive atmosphere of this book about her is in keeping with her life and the poetry she created.

The Natural History and Behavior of the California Sea Lion is number one of the Special Publications of the American Society of Mammalogists.

It is a small book which seems to tell all there is to know about the sea lion. The observations and writing were done by Richard Peterson and George Bartholomew of the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Last book for this week is not an especially happy one but it is one which might bring an easing of the mind to one who needs it. On Death and Dying was written by Dr. Kubler-Ross of the University of Chicago.

It is a book designed to bring a message from the dying to families, to doctors, nurses, and clergy. Dr. Kubler-Ross says "It is hoped that it will encourage others not to shy away from the 'hopelessly' sick but to get closer to them, as they can help them much during their final hours."

Perhaps you have someone very ill in your family and this book could be a great help to you.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. I am a retired patrolman, receiving both a city pension and Federal Social Security. My wife is employed as a clerk under Federal Civil Service. When she attains age 62, and is still employed in her present capacity, will she be eligible to collect Social Security benefits on the basis of my coverage?

A. Your wife's entitlement to collect auxiliary Social Security benefits at age 62 would depend on her annual income. There is currently a $1,680.00 annual earning limit. Beyond that limit, $1 is withheld for every $2 of earnings between $1,680 and $2,880 per year, and above $2,880, $1.00 is withheld for every one dollar of earnings. However, when she retires from civil service, she may then receive her civil service annuity, her auxiliary Social Security benefits and also earn up to whatever income limit prevails.

Q. My husband has become disabled and was awarded a disability insurance benefit. We moved out of our house into a trailer because of the expense. We want to rent out our house. Does income from rent affect your Social Security benefits?

A. In this instance your benefit would not be affected by the rental income. Rentals from real estate do not count for Social Security unless (a) they are received in the course of a trade or business by real estate dealer; or (b) services are rendered primarily for the convenience of the occupant of the premises.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o the Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel or phone Social Security office 373-3351)

MPVS Donates Proceeds of Thrift Shop

Representing the net proceeds of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services' Thrift Shop in Seaside during the last two weeks of September, a check in the amount of $4,780.39 was presented to Mrs. Jack Westland, president-elect of the Community Hospital Auxiliary, at the regular meeting of M P V S on Friday, Oct. 3, at the USO in Monterey.

The presentation of the check was made for M P V S by Mrs. J. B. Farrior, and in acknowledging the amount, Mrs. Westland extended the thanks of the Auxiliary for the cooperation given to its members by the MPVS workers at the Shop.

Easter in Mallorca

by Joanne Louise Nix

Part VI

April 12

El Pueblo de Los Santos

Again we rented a car and drove through the Spanish countryside. Don Quixote would have felt quite at home in Mallorca, for one of the salient features of the landscape is the Mallorcan windmills. Windmills are to be found all over the island and besides being decorative, they serve an important purpose. Because of the shortage of water on the island, they are used to grinding corn as a power source in lieu of water.

We passed orchards and roads lined with trees that cast lacy shadows before us. Through small, yellow, sunbaked villages we drove, until we reached Petra.

My visit to Petra was the trip that I had been looking forward to the most during my stay in Mallorca. I have always been interested in the work of Father Serra, and I was anxious to visit his birthplace and see the area that had been his home and inspiration.

When we arrived in Petra, we found it to be a town much the same as the others through which we had passed in the area, clean and quiet with farmers driving mule carts through the narrow streets. But this was the birthplace of a saint, and we had the great good fortune to meet people of this town who had the same generosity and simplicity of spirit as Serra must have had.

In the center of the town was a monument to Father Serra. Set in a square surrounded by palm trees, it looked benignly across the town and seemed to welcome us there.

We set out to find the Serra birthplace and we encountered two people who seemed to be prototypes of the parents of Father Serra.

We found a Serra museum, but it was closed. We were exploring the street looking for an entrance, when a woman appeared and told us to follow her. She was Madalena Rosello de Mallorca, honored by Mayor Shelley of San Francisco and many others for her thirty years as the caretaker of Father Serra's birthplace. She showed us her medals and citations from officials in California and from Serra organizations throughout the United States. And she was worthy of every honor. Sweetly and simply she explained the background of Father Serra to us as she showed us the house where he had lived as a boy.

Born in 1713 of devout farm parents, Father Junipero Serra began life in a house that was as Madalena explained, "neither rich nor poor, but in the middle." It was a spacious two story house filled with objects that the family of young Miguel Joseph Serra used in their household.

Madalena pointed out to us the Serra family's oven, bread box, sleeping quarters, stable, meat preserving rack and eighteenth century "washing machine" that required a day's labor to complete a wash, and other artifacts.

Our guide explained in slow, clear Spanish that her mother used the same sort of washing techniques, but that now, washes were done by machine.

After seeing Father Serra's house and patio garden, Madalena took us to the nearby Serra museum and showed us Serra memorabilia that had been collected from Spain, Mexico and California. She explained that Serra organizations and contributors such as Mrs. Dina Moore Bowden, the president of the Society of California pioneers have been the ones responsible for perpetuating and preserving the memory of Father Serra.

Madalena showed us galleries of pictures depicting Father Serra's missions, and church and state officials connected with the founding of the missions first in Mexico and then California.

In an honored part of the gallery is a portrait of the Rev. Francisco Vicolan, who, while still studying for the priesthood, bought a copy of Serra's life written by his companion Father Francisco Palon. It was Father Nicolan who initiated the construction of Serra's statue in Petra and subsequently made his name known to the people of Petra and the world.

Father Serra taught philosophy and theology in Palma from 1740 until 1749 at which time he left Palma on an English ship bound for New Spain (Mexico) with his companion Father Francisco Palon. Serra's journey from Veracruz through Mexico and later upper California are all chronicled in the museum.

About 433 million Kennedy half dollars of the 90-per cent silver content were produced in 1964; nearly all have disappeared from circulation.

Matson Lines To Convert 'Lurline' To Sea Hotel

Matson Lines' 26,000-ton flagship SS Lurline will make her maiden voyage around South America in January.

The big white liner, which has been appropriately called the "Hotel SS Lurline" because of her role as a luxury floating resort, will visit fourteen ports during the 53-day adventure cruise to Latin America.

'Ireland' First Offering In New Explorarama Series

Well known author, explorer and film producer Nicol Smith will appear in person at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 22 at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel to narrate his new two hour color travel and adventure film "Ireland."

The program is the first event of the 1969-1970 Explorarama series of professionally produced travel and adventure films. The series is sponsored as a community service by The Explorers Club of San Francisco.

Nicol Smith has made an enviable reputation as an explorer of strange, remote and interesting places. He was the first person to explore and photograph the remote interior of the island of Hainan.

He is the author of five books, the most recent of which is Golden Doorway to Tibet. During the war Lieutenant Colonel Nicol Smith was a secret agent for Valparaiso, Puerto Montt, Punta Arenas, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Santos, Rio de Janeiro, Bahia, Port of Spain, Curacao, the Canal Zone and Balboa and Acapulco before returning to California.

The cruise is perfectly timed for the summer season south of the equator, and passengers will have ample opportunity in each port to shop and visit important points of interest.

For complete information on this "Latin adventure cruise" around South America, contact your travel agent.

the OSS in both Thailand and Vichy, France.

When Nicol Smith is not producing films or lecturing, he spends his time in his native California at his fishing lodge in the High Sierras.

Other programs of the series will include "Wide, Wide Switzerland" with Chris Bordon (Friday, Nov. 14); "Doing It Danish" with Arthur Wilson (Friday, Nov. 28); "Holiday in Holland" with Willis Butler in January; "Portraits of the Orient" with Curtis Nagel in February; "Venice and the Italian Lakes" with Thayer Soule in March; "Discovering New Zealand" with Kenneth Richter in April; and "Mexico South Into Guatemala" with Philip Walker in May.

Reserved seats for the eight programs are now available at Central Box Office in Carmel (phone 624-6739) and Abinante Music Store in Monterey (phone 372-5893).

PADRE SPORTS

by Hal Gann

Carmel High's varsity football team, minus the all-around services of Steve Taylor and Bryan Robotti, and without coordination on a "T" offense, bowed to a rugged Palma team, 20-8, Saturday afternoon on the local gridiron.

Earlier, Carmel's freshman team ripped Palma, 28-6, and the local junior varsity also won, 20-6. The near-capacity crowd was anticipating a sweep, but quarterback Paul McDonald's unerring passes and halfback Ray Gutierrez's long gains off tackle quickly proved that the Chieftans may win the Mission Trail League Championship this year.

This writer also saw the Gonzales 18-12 victory over Pacific Grove Friday evening and it is my opinion that Palma and the Spartans may very well end the season tied for first place, as Holy Cross Friday took the measure of previously-favored Hollister. This leaves Palma and Gonzales the only two undefeated conference teams, and King City and Hollister will be in hot pursuit.

(Next Padre Broadcast will be the game from King City this Friday evening, either live at 7:40 or rebroadcast at 4:30 P.M. this Saturday over KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc)

Chris Smith helped set up Carmel's only touchdown when he intercepted a Palma pass on the Carmel 42. Halfback Rick Hall

Jaycees Hold Pollution Seminar

The District Four Jaycees, which includes Cambrian Park, Campbell, Gilroy, Hollister, Los Gatos, King City, Monterey Peninsula, Salinas, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, and Watsonville, is sponsoring a seminar on water pollution.

On Nov. 1 at the Holiday Inn, Monterey, Jaycees from throughout the state will gather to hear a group of nationally known speakers discuss the urgent and growing problem of pollution that exists today.

The purpose of the seminar is to further the Jaycees anti-pollution program in the best interests of the community and to educate the public and other Jaycee districts throughout the state in the hope that anti-pollution programs will become a national Jaycee project.

The speakers will include nationally known oceanographers, ecologists, public officials and legislators who will provide factual information and background material on the causes and effects of pollution. These people are now involved in water pollution projects in the state and in the Monterey Peninsula.

There will also be a showing of the prize winning color film "Danger, Bad Water."

The public is invited to attend and may make advance reservations by writing the Monterey Peninsula Jaycees, P.O. Box 852, Monterey.

MPC Takes on Ohlone After Bouncing Solano

By Marc Hinchey
Coast (JC) Conference football action gets underway Saturday night when the Ohlone College Renegades invade Monterey Peninsula College Stadium for an 8 p.m. encounter with the resident Lobos.

MPC, fresh from a 28-10 victory over Solano College last weekend, will be looking for its third win of the season. The Lobos currently hold a 2 win, 2 loss record.

Ohlone (1-3) will be going into the game intent on avenging last year's disastrous 64-19 loss to Monterey.

The Renegades are reportedly greatly improved over last season. Their single victory of the season was a win over Moorpark College. Last week Ohlone dropped a close decision to the Santa Clara University frosh.

The Lobos finally managed to "put it together" in last week's win over Solano. MPC trailed 14-8 at the half, but stormed back to tally 20 points in the third quarter and topple the Falcons.

Solano scored the game's first two touchdowns. The Falcons first got on the scoreboard when the quarterback Doug Herren lofted a 16 yard touchdown pass to his talented end, Blake Chapman. The conversion kick attempt was blocked by Monterey middle-guard Ken Goff.

Early in the second quarter, the Falcons again scored on a pass play from Herren to Chapman. The play covered 11 yards, and a subsequent two point conversion pass from Mike Golovich to Chapman put SJC up by 14-0.

Monterey promptly came back, utilizing runs by fullback Brad Kight and halfback Mike Mitchem. Mitchem "broke the ice" for the Lobos when he capped a ten play, 64 yard drive with a 7 yard TD run. Bill Stowers latched on to a Dave Stewart toss for the two pointer.

In the third period Stewart teamed with flanker Jim Donovan for a 30 yard scoring shot to tie the contest at 14-14. Monterey forged ahead when Kight paced a drive covering 73 yards and scored on a five yard jaunt.

The final MPC points came when defensive end Tom Segali picked off a Golovich pass and returned it 25 yards for a TD. Mike Mitchem caught a Stewart pass from the PAT.

Solano did not give up, and narrowed the gap in the fourth quarter. A 54 yard punt return by Spencer Davis put the Falcons "knocking on the door" at the MPC six yard line, and halfback Rick Biama scored from the one three plays later. The conversion kick was blocked again.

Time ran out with Solano desperately trying to penetrate the Lobo goal line.

The Monterey coaching staff was very pleased with the team's play.

The public is invited.

Heart Assn. Hypertension Health Tips

It is estimated that more than six million people in the United States are under treatment for high blood pressure. What advice do physicians give their patients with elevated blood pressure? The Central Mission Trails Heart Association says that there are six suggestions often given to patients with hypertension:

- 1) Try not to worry, since nervous tension and emotional storms tend to push blood pressure up.
- 2) Keep your weight normal, since overweight is a health hazard.
- 3) Don't smoke cigarettes.
- 4) Get plenty of sleep, because blood pressure is lower during sleep and rises during waking hours.

- 5) Choose sports that are not competitive, so if you feel tired you can stop in the middle of a game and not over-exert.
- 6) Rest before you are tired, thereby avoiding the tenseness and irritability that go with fatigue.

The Carmel Lions Club thanks all those who:

1. Contributed financially
2. Helped on the street (Youth Center workers were terrific)
3. Gave us encouragement

Our White Cane Sight Conservation Drive was again a success — thanks to you!

OCEAN SONG

*Old ocean sing a song to me,
For I am pensive and forlorn,
Do not forsake your child, my sea,
In you my flesh and bone were born.*

*I stand upon the golden shore
And watch the westering steamers fade,
My dreams go with them evermore
To world-end ports of spice and jade.*

*Sing me a mystic lullaby
In blue dusk sweet with tamarind,
My heart shall answer with the cry
Of white gulls on the glimmering wind.*

Walden Garratt

TWILIGHT

*I stand within a chapel of silence
And hold a long leaf of twilight
In my hand. Shadows come
Like dusk-violets with a single star.
Beneath my feet is the lupine-lighted grass
Until the fern of darkness looms between us.*

By Orian DePledge

MAN AND NATURE

*Man's measured hours are curbed like prisoned sand
Which flows from glass to glass, then waits until He turns it. Season sweep on, for no hand Directs them to a vacuum they must fill.*

Phoebe W. Hoffman

FATHER TIME

*Today, we watch as you fly!
We wait for tomorrow while you crawl,
Yesterday you were a moment's dream!
In beautiful times you pass too soon.
In pains you last forever;
You go and keep going and never care;
What scars you leave behind,
What joy you take along!
Oh Time! You stay calm and steady,
In the midst of the storms.
You leave memories of love,
Regrets of lost opportunities,
Hopes of happiness to come.*

*Oh Time! You last forever,
While people get born and die.
Won't you pity those who wait?
Bring together those who love?
Heal the wounds of the past?
Fly now and bring my love
Before it gets too late.*

Consumer Power

By Yvonne Earnst

The food industry is just beginning to feel the resistance of consumers to the record-high meat prices of the last few months. The more consumers withhold their buying power by buying less meat and less expensive cuts of meat, the more this effect will be felt.

This is consumer power in action.

Everytime you buy a smaller amount of meat than you did in the past, or pass up meat for an alternate source of protein, you are casting a vote of disapproval of the present high-price situation. Your vote and mine plus those of many of our fellow shoppers add up to far-reaching consumer resistance, which is making itself felt in the marketplace.

The next time you eye that sirloin steak longingly, go ahead and buy half the amount you normally would for each serving. Then, cube it and make shish-ka-bobs with fresh tomatoes, sweet peppers and mushrooms. Harvest time is here, and vegetables are a very good buy. Serve with a green salad, brown rice, and a dessert made with milk and eggs, such as custard or tapioca pudding. You are serving a meal as high in protein as one featuring a large serving of meat.

You might even buy a less expensive cut of beef, such as bottom round steak, and marinate or tenderize it after cubing. Then you have not only bought a smaller amount of beef, but a less expensive cut as well, and the consumer vote of disapproval you cast is doubled.

By providing protein in other forms in the same meal, you do not impair your protein intake even though you are eating less meat.

Featuring poultry, fish, cheese and eggs in dinner menus is, of course, another effective course of action. It is time to bring that souffle dish down from the top shelf to use more often. Dust off those neglected cookbooks, too. They are filled with recipes you can use in your "eat less meat" campaign.

Try serving a first course of soup or salad before the entree, too. Dinner costs less when a first course is served. That may seem to be a contradiction, but it is a simple statement of the principle underlying the planning of all table d'hote meals in successful restaurants. Salads, fruit or vegetable juices, cheese canapes or hot soup serve to take the edge off the appetite. They also add a welcome note of formality to the evening meal.

The important point to keep in mind is that you should not serve less meat in any meal without providing — in the same meal — an alternate source of protein.

It is not a good idea to serve a two-ounce serving of meat per person stretched with starches or even vegetables. The main dish should be extended with other protein-rich foods, or Crime is now estimated to cost the United States $30 billion per year, one fourth of the entire Federal budget.

the protein should be incorporated into another item on the menu. That might be a side dish of Noodles Romanoff, using cottage cheese and eggs, or even a hot bread or dessert.

Protein literally means "to come first," and since it is the raw material for all the building, repair and maintenance that goes on in our bodies, we must never overlook its importance.

We have discussed, so far, only animal sources of protein. However, scientists — food and population experts, especially — have been telling us for years that obtaining protein almost exclusively from animal sources is inefficient and wasteful of our resources. Perhaps the time has come to begin taking their advice.

Next week, we will cover vegetable sources of protein, some of which are unfamiliar to the modern American cook. All the foods in the category are much less expensive than animal proteins. They are a great help in balancing the budget.

YMCA Launches Sale

The Monterey Peninsula YMCA is about to launch their October Thrift Sale.

Held in old "Sir Discount" department store in Seaside, this sale will feature many bargains, both new and used.

Peninsula merchants have responded well to the plea for merchandise, as well as many families who have searched through their attics and garages for saleable items.

Local "Y" director Doug Sprague indicated that all is going well and a big turn-out is expected.

YMCA Board President, Dr. Bob Frost is busy persuading his friends to contribute liberally to this worthy cause that enables the "Y" to serve the youth of the community.

Dates for the event are: Saturday Oct. 18 and Saturday Oct. 25 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Sunday, Oct. 19 from 12 noon to 4 p.m.

Gray whale babies are about 16 feet long at birth and weigh one ton or more.

THE COOL briskness in the air can only be matched by the keen edge it puts on the appetite — like the fragrance of home made chili sauce bubbling, or a good old fashioned beef pot au feu, or a wassail bowl full of split pea soup afloat with sausage rings, which are now on the Keeping Room menu. Also a taste teaser for breakfast is old time "Little Pig Scramble," a hearty morsel augmented by Vermont maple syrup. Made up to take out also in little loaf pans!

In 1825, forts were built in the West by the government not only to protect white settlers but also to prevent them from encroaching upon Indian territory.

Lines from LoisOctober Is The Gypsy In Me

SO I LET MY DAY BEGIN AT INCREDIBLE PFEIFFER BEACH and our building site overlooking it and all the glories of the Sur Coast, noting that the price is only $38,500.

THEN ON TO GREET THE SUNRISE from the top of a 50-acre knoll overlooking the Bixby Bridge. Took pictures of the California ranch style house touched with the morning sun and speculated on the great value of all this for only $160,000.

DOWN THE MOUNTAIN AND UP THE COAST, watching en route the ribbons of mists as they are enchanged by the sun's touch. Whales! Close in, too! How lucky we are to have several good building sites available in that area just now. JOG OFF UP THE PALO COLORADO CANYON. Birds singing like mad. Yes, our A-frame is in full sun now. (You've been hearing about this $59,000 house for some time and maybe it will be a little longer yet before the right person discovers it; one thing sure, it will be love at first sight.) Several little cabins available up in the Garrapatas. Ask Hank for details.

BACK TO THE COAST HIGHWAY - "Wonderful One" indeed. Sun bright on October's magnificent surf. Stop for pictures at CASA DEL PUENTE and find an otter family in the cove below the house having a feast on abalone. Gave full credit to the person who selected this one-of-a-kind ocean front site 40 years ago, but also to the present owners who have made such a fabulous estate of the lovely Mediterranean house. (Wanted to take a swim in the inviting pool, but no time.) We're hoping to find someone who not only has the $350,000 price but who needs a showcase for his treasures for which this house is so ideal, as well as for just the sheer joy of living.

Stopped at the NEARLY NEW ENGLISH COUNTRY HOUSE to measure an area for a client. Hoping our buyer here has lots of books, loves music and views, and will be pleased to find a house with a master bedroom suite with a separate area for a den, sewing room, etc. Good if they're gourmets, too, for the big dining room with its bay windows to the sea will really please. Attractively priced at $69,500 and offers invited.

WANDERED UP THE MOUNTAIN to check our handsome home at the very top, overlooking the ocean and lovely Malpaso Canyon. This is the house for the really particular buyer only satisfied with the best in planning and construction in the $82,500 price range.

UP PETER PAN ROAD to the traditional home on its two park-like acres. Secluded from the road and neighbors, but never from the ocean view or the myriad fascinations of a redwood forest. $79,500 price tag. Immediate occupancy.

THE VIEW OF "SEA BIRD," as seen in the distance from the lookout point below the Highlands Inn, never ceases to be exciting. What a joy it would be to live in this wonderful new home overlooking the South shores of Point Lobos! Price is $179,000.

BACK IN CARMEL, STOPPED ON SCENIC DRIVE to see if the morning sun hits the lovely walled courtyard at "Geranium Gate." It not only does, but the early light slanting through the wrought iron gate is a special treat. Only $89,500 for this handsome home with its guest apartment opening into this courtyard.

Well, back to the office, but any of us will be delighted to re-do this tour with YOU at any time!

On Sunny Hatton Fields Mesa is a cozy home for a couple or a single person. There are two bedrooms, a paneled living room and dining ell in addition to an efficient kitchen and bath. But the house is small and very easy to care for, with carpeting, fresh paint and a delightful patio which accommodates the gardening urge. You can forget the rest if you want to, but the yard is large if you wish to use it including a tool house or shop. The best we know of at $29,500.
